Sounds of Silences 2018

International Competition of Musical Composition for the Moving Image – Third Edition

Through the sonic reinterpretation of old silent films these forgotten masterpieces of the history of cinema can be made more interesting and exciting for the general public. Music can have a leading role in this kind of Renaissance, starting from the special concern for timbre in the instrumental, electronic and electroacoustic music of today. New soundtracks can do more than simply "accompany" the images on the screen, but can reveal their hidden content, giving a new voice to what would otherwise remain silent, and the sound of today can contribute towards redefining the meaning, aesthetics and conceptual structures of cinema created before the advent of the soundtrack.

With this in mind and in the context of the project "SIAE - Classics of Today", the Edison Studio association, in collaboration with Cineteca di Bologna and Romaeuropa Festival, announces Sounds of Silences International Competition of Musical Composition for the Moving Image, which is intended to stimulate musical creativity in its interaction with the audiovisual media.

The 2018 edition is dedicated to Charlie Chaplin's movies.

In the preliminary stage of the competition the entrants must submit an audiovisual work, the musical part of which they themselves have composed. An initial jury will then select four finalists from among the entrants, who will be invited to create, within a period of four months, an electroacoustic soundtrack for a medium-length silent movie by Charlie Chaplin chosen by Edison Studio in collaboration with the Cineteca di Bologna. A second international jury will award cash prizes to the finalists during a public event organized within the Romaeuropa Festival 2018. The total prize money to be awarded amounts to €6,000.
